

Technical Bulletin

Date: November 12, 2015

Product Line: Dragon, Premo

Models: Red Dragon & Premo PSD

Subject: Belly Strap Upgrade

Background

Currently, the Red Dragon and Premo PSD use different Belly Straps. Both belly straps are considered safe to use, but have slightly different designs.

Recommendations

SEI has created a new Belly Strap for use with both the Red Dragon and Premo PSD. The part number for the new belly strap is 011806. The new strap design has been load tested and approved for use. It will be supplied with two different threaded connecting links in order to be used on either machine. The smaller links are used with the Red Dragon and the larger links are used with the Premo PSD. Customers with existing belly straps do not need to upgrade to the newer version if their belly strap is still in good condition.
